Russian Columns Driving Into Estonia Reported At Gulf Of Finland

GERMAN GARRISON AT NARVA DOOMED

By NATALIA RENE
(U.S.S. Staff Correspondent)

MOSCOW, March 4.—German defenses on a 300-mile Baltic front crumbled disastrously today as Russian columns driving into Estonia were reported to have reached the Gulf of Finland and other Soviet forces bore down on Pskov, Ostrov and Vitebsk.

Dispatches to the Moscow press said Gen. Leonid A. Gotoyov's Leningrad army, widening its bridgehead on the northwest bank of the Narva river, plunged westward toward the Estonian seaport capital of Tallinn in an unchecked drive that carried to the southern shores of the Finnish Gulf.

Sever Railroad
Coupled with the severing of the important Narva-Tallinn railroad, the new drive virtually sealed the doom of Narva's German garrison, which now faces the choice of losing all its equipment inside the city or making being cut to pieces in a hazardous dash westward.

In two days of fighting on the Baltic front, nearly 5,000 Nazi troops have been wiped out, 2,000 of them near Narva and another 1,500 in the push on Ostrov. The Soviet high command announced.

Southwest of Narva, Russian forces tightened their stranglehold on Pskov, gateway to the Baltic states, and two other Soviet columns.

PA NEW OBSERVES

Today is the sixth day that the mobile unit of the Blood Donor Service of the Red Cross has been here at the First Presbyterian church. Today donors reported for appointments between 10-15 this morning and 2-15 this afternoon.

North Hill bus patrons have discovered an unscheduled benefit in the transfer of the bus stop from north of Washington street at Mill to south of Washington street. There is a long road extending over the sidewalk from the Centennial building at the first floor height which provides fine protection from the rain and snow in inclement weather when waiting for the bus.

North Hill motorists are grateful to the street department for fixing a hole at the foot of the hill on North Mill street at Falls street. There was a spot where the concrete had broken out, which was beginning to be quite a hazard to springs.

A local war veteran reported an incident on Washington street late Friday afternoon which she feels should be done away with. She stated that a panhandler stopped a young man in uniform and hit him up for a donation, which he gave. Having a son in service, she feels that service men should not be subjected to such indignities.

This morning was quite different from that of a year ago. The temperature today was just about at the freezing point, and snow which melted almost as fast as it fell was in evidence. A year ago, the thermometer stood below zero.

H. T. Amberson, well known artist who resides at 3 Culbertson Place, informs Pa. News that on this date in 1940 the United States of America was without a president. The president serving had retired and March 4 of that year fell on a Saturday, and it wasn't until Monday, a president was again in the White House.

DIFFICULTIES ON ROUTES TO JAPAN

By CAPT. JOHN H. CRAIG
(Written Especially for U.S.S.)

The recent United Nations defensive victory on the India-Burma frontier, in which a column of 8,000 invading Japanese was destroyed, and the repeated U. S. fleet bombings of the Kamohaka, highlight developments on Tokyo and victory. Both of these were once considered promising, but both have met with almost prohibitive difficulties.

Widely Discussed
One of these routes, widely discussed at one time by naval writers, favored a march on Japan via Alaska and the Aleutian Islands. The climate along this route is almost impossibly bad, with rain and fog reducing visibility to nil during some seasons. But almost all the line of march would have been along a friendly shore, and the lack of visibility would have limited activities by Japanese submarines and other raiders.

Distances along this northern route are comparatively short, and with Russia, traditional foe of Japan, waiting to receive us at her great base on the continent of Asia, this line of march had a good deal to recommend it. However, since Russia has stated that

President In His 12th Year

Begins Final Year Of Third Term Today—Little Ceremony Marks Event

By ROBERT G. NIXON
(U.S.S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, March 4.—President Roosevelt entered the "home stretch" today of his third term in the White House.
Noon marked the beginning of the 12th year spent at the helm of state by the 62-year-old chief executive, whose three terms have covered some of the most momentous pages in American history.

As Mr. Roosevelt began the final year of his third term, political opinion in Washington was virtually unanimous that he will be named party's candidate for a fourth term. For Mr. Roosevelt, deeply immersed in the conduct of the nation's most critical struggle, the order of the day was simply "Work." Last night, in honor of the occasion, he departed for a moment from his severe wartime White House social regimen, to dine with his cabinet, their wives, a few close family friends

MAN FOUND DEAD IN AUTO TODAY

Edward Floyd Callahan Found Asphyxiated In Car Along Road

Edward Floyd Callahan, aged 30 years, of the Nashua road, Wilmington township, was found dead in his automobile, parked along the road approximately 200 yards west of the Kings Chapel church, about 9 o'clock this morning, by a group of Boy Scouts on a hike.
Death was due to asphyxiation. Mr. Callahan having placed a piece of garden hose in the exhaust pipe of his car and passed it up through the rear window. Death had evidently occurred sometime during the night, Coroner T. Frank Nugent reported, as rigor mortis had already set in.

Callahan, it is stated, had been examined for induction into the army at the Pittsburgh Armed Forces Induction Center last Saturday, and had been accepted for service. He would have been called up for duty sometime after two weeks hence. He was a registrant of County Board Two.

According to Sgt. C. B. Quiggle of the Pennsylvania Motor Police, Mr. Callahan called them Friday afternoon and reported that his husband was missing from home.

The boys who discovered Mr. Callahan's body were: Richard Moore, R. D. 3; Walter Black, R. D. 3; Marvin Dinsmore, R. D. 3; and Donald Moorhead, R. D. 2, all aged about 13 years. They went to Eckles' store at The Harbor and reported the fact, and County Detective Charles D. Ross and Pennsylvania Motor Policemen F. S. Norris and S. S. Szymonowicz responded. They called the Rescue Fire Station, asking for the rescue squad as some signs of life were indicated. Assistant Fire Chief George Harper and William Bowen, responding. However, later examination revealed that resuscitation attempts were useless and Coroner T. Frank Nugent was summoned, who pronounced Mr. Callahan dead.

Callahan is survived by his wife and four children.

GEN. MACARTHUR'S HEADQUARTERS IN NEW GUINEA, March 4.—Battle-toughened American cavalrymen, battling in torrential rains and against repeated Japanese attacks, expanded their perimeter about captured Momote airfield today, fanning out "in all directions" on Los Negros island. The Yanks, members of the dismounted First U. S. Cavalry division, withstood desperate enemy counter-thrusts during a full day and night. Despite almost impossible conditions and on a field turned into a quagmire by incessant rains, they met and decisively repulsed each Jap drive.

In a sermon at Trinity Cathedral, he declared:
"The pilots who are burned to a crisp in burning planes and the men who are away from their families for years in defense of what we hold dear desire this glory and not the bovine act of four children being born out of wedlock."
One of the quads, MacDonald, has died.

From Washington today comes news that the United States government is intervening in the Russo-Finnish peace situation in an effort to avert Finland's rejection of the Soviet armistice terms. Indications that Finland considers the terms unacceptable prompted the State Department to instruct the American legation in Helsinki to inform the Finnish government the United States hopes it will continue the peace talks.

Leading Ace Is Reported Missing

LONDON, March 4.—(INS)—Major Walter C. Beckham—leading American ace in the European theatre—was listed as missing today but his record of never having his Thunderbolt plane so much as scratched by a bullet from a Nazi craft still stands.

Beckham, 27, who could boast a score of 18 enemy aircraft destroyed, failed to return from a recent bombing mission. His plane was damaged and the major was believed to have bailed out. However, anti-aircraft fire—not that of an opponent in aerial combat—knocked him out of action.

As the flak hit his ship Beckham radioed to one of his mates: "Take the boys home, George. I can't make it."

Major Beckham's home town is De Puniak Springs, Fla.

Relative Quiet On All Three Of Italian Fronts

German Patrols Stab At Allied Positions Along Anzio Beachhead—Artillery Active

HUNDREDS OF NAZIS ARE BEING BURIED

By JAMES I. KILGallen
(U.S.S. Staff Correspondent)

NAPLES, March 4.—German patrols stabbed at Allied positions along the Anzio bridgehead and big guns belched death today after Fifth Army troops beat down a determined attempt by five Nazi divisions to wipe out the bridgehead south of Rome.

All three Italian fronts were relatively quiet. Allied headquarters announced. Three enemy attacks, launched by units of company strength supported by tanks, were repulsed on the Anzio front yesterday. The previous day three Nazi tanks were knocked out when a company of infantry, paced by eight tanks, attacked American positions along the Cisterna-Congia road.

Harsh Back Patrols
British troops southwest of Carroceto hurled back two strong German combat patrols, said the headquarters announcement, adding that Allied air attacks against Nazi troops south of Rome were "effective."

Admits "Payoff" Of Legislators

LANSING, Mich., March 4.—(INS)—Major Charles H. Hemans, Michigan attorney and lobbyist, stationed in Washington, who appeared as a surprise witness at the state's bribery investigation, rocked the hearing today with an admission he had been "paying off" state legislators for the past ten years.

Named as the payoff-man in earlier testimony, Hemans' appearance in court and his frank admission threw a bombshell into the hearing which involved 16 legislators and five auto finance company heads, charged with conspiracy and bribery in connection with small loan bills.

Hemans said he was employed by the Beneficial Loan Company, of New Jersey which owns loan companies in Michigan and eastern states.

He said that ten years ago "I used every legitimate oral argument to kill a bill, but it was passed. Later, I was told to learn more heavily on payment methods and less heavily on verbal arguments. I have followed that procedure."

Jap Alibi For Failure In Air

NEW YORK, March 4.—(INS)—Truth may, admittedly, "sometimes be stranger than fiction," but even that wouldn't influence any sane person to believe the Japs' latest alibi.

The Japanese Domei Agency, seeking to explain why American airmen have been unchallenged in devastating raids on the Pacific, claimed today that the Pacific fleet was based in New Britain.

Jap pilots, it didn't attempt interception simply they said, because they were "confident" the Yanks would miss their objectives.

"There were times 'though' when the enemy—in dropping their bombs at random—managed to hit our military objectives," said the Jap broadcast.

Huge Armadas Of Allied Planes Cross Channel

Many Types Of Planes Take Part In Huge Attacks On France And Germany

NIGHT ATTACKS MADE ON BERLIN

BULLETIN

LONDON, Mar. 4.—(INS) American heavy bombers blasted Nazi Germany by daylight today in a mighty assault which enemy propagandists asserted was leveled against Berlin—the first all-United States bombardment of the city since the start of the war.

Should the Nazi claim be confirmed, the attack will mark the second all-American thrust at the city in less than 24 hours. Speedy twin-tailed American Lightning fighters were over Berlin yesterday in a flight which may have been an exploratory mission for today's reported attack.

By CHARLES A. SMITH
(U.S.S. Staff Correspondent)

LONDON, March 4.—Tremendous armadas of Allied warplanes, reported by veteran observers to be "the greatest ever seen crossing the English Channel," headed out toward continental Europe today on the heels of a night stab at Berlin by RAF Mosquito bombers.

Virtually every known type of United Nations warplane, from speedy fighter to giant four-motored bomber, made up the vast fleets as they criss-crossed over coastal points for hour after hour throughout the day.

London newspapers reported that American Fortresses or Liberators, or both, were included in the formations which struck at the continent for the third successive day.

Follow Berlin Raid
An official announcement disclosed that Mitchell, Bostons and Mosquitos started the ball rolling by blasting military objectives in northern France at an early hour. These attacks came on the heels of a night raid on Berlin which was carried out less than 12 hours after two-tailed P-38 Lightnings gave the Nazi capital its first assault at the hands of an all-American flight.

The night attack against Berlin was accompanied by light jabs at

Kuriles Hit By U. S. Bombs

PEARL HARBOR, Mar. 4.—(INS)—The latest blows in America's Pacific offensive came today as the Mikado's northernmost string of islands above Japan's homeland, and in the Carolines and the Marshalls, in the Central Pacific.

A communiqué issued yesterday by Admiral Chester W. Nimitz, commander in chief of the U. S. Pacific fleet, announced that long range Navy patrol bombers dropped five tons of explosives Thursday on enemy installations at Paramushiro and Shimushu in the Kuriles.

Thomas L. Thomas Accorded Notable Reception Here

Audience At Cathedral Is Enthusiastic Over Program
By Young Baritone

Metropolitan Concert Guild added another star in its crown of achievement Friday night, when Thomas L. Thomas, baritone, was heard in the second of three concert series of the Guild this winter. Nothing like the reception he received has been seen here in many years.

From his first number to the conclusion of his last encore, this brilliant young baritone had his audience of approximately 1,500 right in his hand. A figure of speech might be permitted. In his pianissimo passages the Cathedral auditorium might have been empty, it was so quiet; in his lighter numbers, particularly the encores, the actor in him had sway and the laughter of his audience became a roar. His presentation of the Prologue from Puccini was a triumph, for in it all the facets of artistic brilliance shone to the full.

Five-Language Program
Mr. Thomas employed five languages in his concert: English, Welsh, French, Italian and German. He could have sung in Esperanto and the crowd would still have enjoyed him, for a voice like his is a delight even though the words themselves are in a language other than that of his auditors.

He is the well-nigh perfect artist. His voice is warm and rich, his diction is a delight, his range is truly amazing, and to it all he adds a dramatic flair that captivates those who hear him. The point was trying to make it that the Thomas concert Friday night was a success. Really it was more of a triumph.

Sharing in his success was his pianist, Jacob Hanneman, himself an artist in his own right. His accompaniments were excellently done and then to further prove his ability he appeared in two solo numbers.

Mr. Thomas was the second number of the Metropolitan program this season, the first being the Ballet Russe de Monte Carlo. The concluding number is Luboshutz and Nemiroff, piano duo. The three numbers make up the finest program the Guild has ever offered.

REPORT GERMAN LINES CRUMBLING ON BALTIC FRONT

gained speed in their converging drive on the Latvian border.

Ostrov Faces Siege
Ostrov, only 12 miles from the frontier, faced imminent siege by Russian forces less than ten miles away. At the southernmost part of the Baltic front, Russian pressure against the key bastion of Vitebsk is being steadily increased, battlefront dispatches said.

Observers predicted that the battle for the Baltic states, concentrated now in separated but coordinated actions against Narva, Pskov, Ostrov and Vitebsk, soon may spread to a general offensive all along the 300-mile front.

Govorov's lower wing, combined with forces of Gen. Markian Popov's First Baltic Army, occupied 11 large towns and two rail stations yesterday in a three-sided storming assault against the old fortress city of Pskov.

Grim Battle Rages
A grim battle raged under the walls of the city and at its near approaches, and front reports said the Nazis slowly are yielding ground to the southwest.

The Russians' outflanking drive below Pskov coupled with the twin-pronged thrust toward the Latvian border, is beginning to bring a substantial German force concentrated between Pskov and Ostrov under threat of imminent encirclement.

Twenty miles southeast of Ostrov and the same distance from the Latvian frontier, fighting has reached the approaches to the German stronghold of Pushkino Gory and is spreading along a widening sector toward Vitebsk, pivot base for German armies on the entire northern front.

low-flying formations of twin-motored Mitchell and Attack bombers. The Allied planes operated "in force," relieving much of the pressure directed against the cavalrymen.

"The sharp ground fighting," Gen. MacArthur's communique declared, "our troops, after repulsing further enemy counter-attacks, advanced their position in all directions."

Beat Off Nipponese
Japanese Zero planes attempted to interfere with the Allied aerial umbrella, and American fighter formations swept to the aid of the Mitchells and Bostons. One escort group, swooping on an enemy intercept force twice its number, beat off the Nipponese craft within a few minutes.

Seven enemy planes were shot down by the Yank fighter pilots, while a Mitchell pilot got another and four others were listed as "probables."

Both the Japanese and the Allies are steadily reinforcing their positions, the enemy moving in reserves across a narrow strip of water from adjoining Manus Island. The latter is the site of the important Nipponese air base at Lorengau, which has been systematically pounded into ruins by American bombers.

she does not intend to fight Japan in the foreseeable future, all ideas of advancing along the Aleutians probably have been abandoned.

Other Route
The other widely discussed thrust at Japan was to be based on India, with retaking Burma, reconquering Singapore and opening up communications with China as its early objectives.

An India-Burma thrust was sanctioned at the Quebec conference last August and Admiral Lord Louis Mountbatten was appointed to command an India-Burma theater for such an effort. A triumphant march to reconquer Burma and Singapore would, obviously, have done much to restore British prestige in the Orient.

It was announced that Indian authorities had assembled a great expeditionary force on the India-Burma frontier, and it was generally supposed that large-scale operations under Lord Mountbatten would begin when the monsoon rains ended, towards the middle of September. Five months have passed since the rains stopped and nothing of importance has happened. Analysis of the situation reveals the nature of the difficulties encountered.

Obstacles Seen
Fundamental obstacle to a major drive from India toward Japan lies in the fact that it must start from a starving, rebellious base country—India. Indian leaders are in jail. Rioting as chronic. Indian crops have failed and hundreds of thousands have starved. Such a jumping-off point in unwinning is a major invasion effort.

Add to this, the terrain of the India-Burma frontier is among the most difficult in the world. Faced by such prospects it is difficult to believe that anything resembling a major India-Burma-Malaya drive can be organized before the end of the present year, at the earliest. In all probability such a drive must wait until the war in Europe is ended and time enough has elapsed to allow for the transfer of British fleet, air and amphibious units to India. How long this will be is anybody's guess.

It was on a blustery March 4th eleven years ago, with the nation in the throes of its worst economic depression, that Mr. Roosevelt rode to the capitol with the defeated Republican president, Herbert Hoover, and took the oath of office for his first term.

Prayer for Peace
WASHINGTON, March 4.—(INS)—President Roosevelt bowed his head in prayer for a just peace in a war-torn world today as he entered the 12th year as the nation's chief executive.

Surrounded by members of his family, his cabinet, the justices of the supreme court, the heads of the armed forces and high government officials, Mr. Roosevelt attended church services this morning in the east room of the White House.

In doing so, the chief executive carried out an annual tradition which he established on March 4, 1933, when he attended church services at historic St. John's Episcopal church, across Lafayette Park from the White House, just before he went to the capitol to take the oath of office for his first term. Since that time Mr. Roosevelt has attended church on March 4 each year, until the last two years in which Episcopal services were held in the east room of the White House.

other objectives in western Germany and by the sowing of mines in enemy waters. Not a single plane was lost.

The air ministry's announcement of today's opening attacks on northern France said that they were carried out by British, dominion and allied pilots attached to the second tactical air force. Escorting the medium bombers were RAF and allied Typhoons and Spitfires.

"Similar attacks were made by unescorted Typhoon bombers," the announcement continued.

"None of our planes is missing."

Heavy Explosions

Soon after the bombers crossed the straits of Dover to extend the current pre-invasion campaign by U. S. warplanes into its third day, they shook explosions as heavy as they shook buildings on the Dover coast reverberated from the Pas de Calais "rocket gun" area.

The night activity came after speedy twin-tailed American P-38 Lightnings, executing a 1,120-mile round trip flight, roared over the Nazi capital in "an offensive sweep" possibly heralding large-scale American heavy bomber assaults on Berlin.

The history-making flight coincided with attacks on targets in bomb-blasted northwest Germany by fighter-escorted Fortresses and Liberators from which ten heavy bombers and six fighters failed to return.

The U. S. fighters were credited with downing eight German interceptors and the number of enemy planes shot down by heavy bomber gunners had not been tabulated at the time air force headquarters announced the raids.

The official announcement did not indicate if the Lightnings dropped any bombs on Berlin or strafed any ground targets. All the fighters returned safely from their daring mission and returning airmen expressed "amazement" at the weak air and ground defenses they encountered.

sunk already, travellers reaching Stockholm said. They reported wild scenes in freight stations also, where people tried to send their belongings out of the city for safety.

Tension spread throughout Finland, increasing considerably during the last 24 hours. Although Friday's papers failed to mention reports that Russia wants an answer within three days—that is, by Sunday—the people clearly were alarmed.

Authoritative circles in Stockholm said it was definitely learned that the government of President Risto Ryti has not written or verbally replied to Russia, and has persuaded the Finnish parliament to reject two points of the Soviet stipulations. The terms which the Finns were said to object to deal with reestablishment of the 1940 peace treaty and the proposed interment of German troops in Finland.

Carl Klingensmith of 1119 Cunningham avenue, who was confined to the Jameson Memorial hospital for over a week receiving treatment, has been returned to his home, improving nicely.

vealed that the Nazis' third abortive attempt to drive the Fifth Army into the sea was launched by five Nazi divisions—roughly 75,000 troops.

Since the Fifth Army landed at Anzio and Nettuno, more than 3,500 German prisoners have been taken, said the spokesman.

On the Eighth Army front, a small enemy attack in the mountains near the Adriatic was beaten down. Patrolling constituted the only activity on the main Fifth Army front around Cassino.

Weather Is Aid

Despite bad weather, Allied bombers pounded the Monterotondo railroad tunnel south of Leghorn; the San Benedetto railroad station; Nazi gun positions and transport in the Rome area and along the western Italian coast and the Adriatic coast of Zara. Eleven Nazi planes and ten Allied aircraft were downed during the operations.

More than 1,400 sorties were flown by Allied planes yesterday, including those which carried out the previously announced attacks on Rome marshalling yards.

The Rome radio declared that "one of the most violent and furious Italian battles ever fought on the Anzio bridgehead. 'Thousands of guns of all calibers,' said the broadcast, 'are in action in a restricted area, churning up the ground yard by yard.'"

Bury Hundreds of Nazis

Hundreds of Nazi corpses were being collected and buried after Allied troops, paced by veterans of the U. S. Third Infantry division, buried three tank-spearheaded enemy divisions back to their original positions in a bitter 36-hour battle.

Every foot of the 1,500 yards of terrain seized by the Nazis in their full-scale counter-offensive between Carroceto and Cisterna was back in Allied hands after the Fifth Army scored what a headquarters spokesman described as "a complete defensive success."

Mrs. Rose Lamorella and daughter Josephine, 215 Friendship street, have departed to Camp Lee, Va., where they will visit with their son and brother, Pvt. George Lamorella.

Washington Calling

By MARQUIS CHILDS

Returns To Burdens

WASHINGTON, March 4.—President Roosevelt is about to pick up again the duties of what must certainly be the most burdensome office in the world. He is concluding a brief rest which was interrupted by the revolt of Senator Barkley. FDR's return to the crushing grind of his office happens to coincide with the anniversary of his inauguration. No man has ever occupied the White House for so long. The term in office of no other President, with the exception of Lincoln and Woodrow Wilson, has been so crowded with events. One crisis has followed on another.

Until recently, the marvel has been the way in which the President stood up to his load. There have been periods of mental depression, when he seemed irritable and at a loss. But each time he snapped back. Each time he returned to the problems of the day with fresh imagination and creativity.

Under Handicap
The war years have put him under a grave handicap. Before 1940, he got "away from it all" at regular intervals. Occasionally fishing trips gave him the kind of relaxation he so badly needs. For a week or two, the never-ending demands ceased. There were no telephones, no appointment list.

Even more important were the trips the President made through the country. He liked nothing better than to travel at the end of a special train, whether in a campaign year or in a casual swing across the country that might be the "non-political" preface to a campaign.

From the crowds that came to hear him, from the people who climbed on and off his train, the President got a sense of renewal. It was a chance to find out what the ordinary American was thinking and feeling.

The barriers of the White House were down. A heckler from the crowd at the rear of the train could speak his mind, or a plain-talking politician, admitted to the President's car, could tell him what the people in that section were thinking about.

Not The Same
While FDR has made two so-called inspection trips that have taken him through the country since 1939, they could not, in the very nature of things, be the same. In wartime, the Secret Service enforces—necessarily—many precautions. The old freedom is gone.

Even a rest is difficult. For the past ten days, Roosevelt has been trying to get a chance to think—to rusticate, free of the million claims of an impossible office. But his days have been broken into by the demands of war.

He is more alone today than he ever has been. Of the old White House crowd, only Stephen Early, his press secretary, remains. The others have fallen victim to the killing pace of the past decade. His closest friend, Harry Hopkins, for some time now, may be prevented by illness from serving as the "boss's" right hand.

In many ways, the outlook this March 4 is as critical as that of 11 years ago. The risks are greater and so are the stakes.

Started At 31 Years
Roosevelt was 31 on that blustery March day 11 years ago. He looked much younger. He spoke with eager confidence to a nation that had turned to him for some way out of the economic crisis which had come upon Herbert Hoover. And he was ready with potent magic to start the wheels of industry turning again.

Today he is about to become the center of a political fight as bitter as any this country has ever seen. Over the fourth-term issue, all the accumulated hatreds of the Roosevelt decade will boil up. That is bound to be so, in spite of the fact that the war is in the midst of the biggest war in our history.

Repetition of 1940
The political course Roosevelt will follow in coming months is fairly clear. It will be a repetition of 1940. As commander-in-chief, he will ignore politics. There will be no time for politics. And it is as commander-in-chief that he would be re-elected to a fourth term.

In many ways, this indirect appeal is calculated to stir up more animosity than a frank old-fashioned campaign. It gives his enemies a sense of frustration. It makes him seem invulnerable.

But one thing is terribly important to remember. That is that our political system, Roosevelt will be President until next January. His is the responsibility in these critical and terrible months. That should be a sobering thought for even professional Roosevelt-haters.

What People Say

WASHINGTON—Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau, Jr., announces fourth war loan oversubscribed by two billion 730 million dollars: "From the very beginning, the voluntary system of bond buying—the American way—has proved successful."

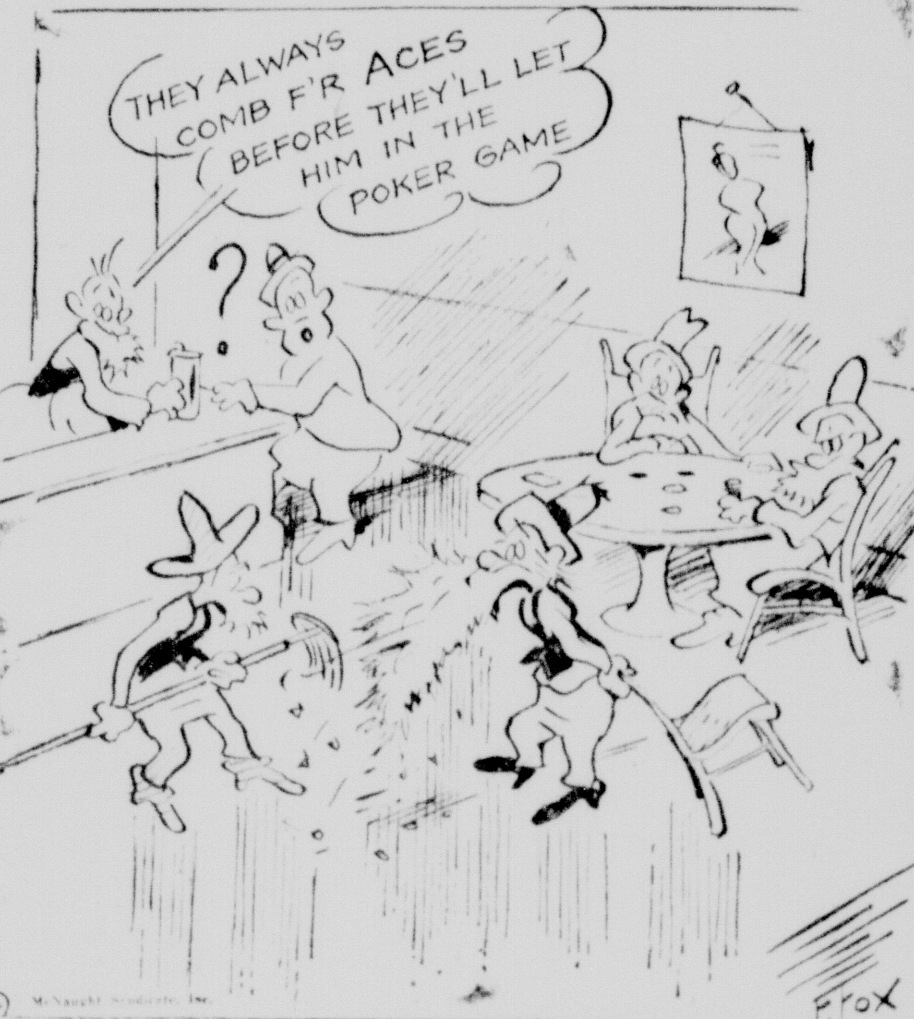

LONDON—Sir James Grigg, British war minister: "Sooner or later Germany must crack, but at the present time she is fighting with the utmost resolution—and except possibly where Hitler's intuition has been at work—with consummate skill."

WASHINGTON—Edward Stettinius, Jr., acting secretary of state: "Victory is certain as long as we remain united. The enemy's chief hope is to divide us by our British, Soviet and Chinese allies."

HINTS AND DINTS

Sun sets tonight 6:35. Sun rises tomorrow, 7:30.

If there's a manpower shortage about using the thousands of bored soldiers who seem stuck in deserted camps for the duration?

Statesmen foresee the distant effect of their policies; politicians never see beyond the next election.

Note on abuse of power: One man who hated Wilson made this war possible by preventing a league to end warfare.

Americanism: Grumbling because canned stuff is scarce, hundreds of carloads of fresh fruit and vegetables spoiling on sidetracks before they can be sold.

The people came across with fourteen billion. Now give them a square deal by not wasting their money.

Paraphrasing: "Man does not live by brown coupons alone."

Brotherhood is a wonderful theory.

Suggested theme song for those leaving the rationing board, "I Have Plenty of Nothing."

New Castle is not so religious, but the streets are becoming holier.

BONE ROAST

Housewife: "I wonder if you would be so kind as to weigh this package for me?"

Butcher: "Why, certainly. It weighs exactly three and a quarter pounds."

Housewife: "Thank you. It contains the bones you sent me in that four-pound roast yesterday."

Being forced to take a rest often is so easy.

There are few things that we know well.

This war has taught a lot of people how precious food is.

A couple of hard drinks usually makes a couple soft and mushy.

Six men were sitting at a table in a service club when a member said to the waiter: "I'd like a new boy in my family. All six men took cigars and only one was a smoker, so they all gave their cigars to him."

Doing the things we should do now will make it easier for us after the war is over.

Watch the red lights and live longer.

One nice thing about woman war workers is that when the war is over they can go back doing their housework.

It is claimed that new automobiles will cost 25 per cent more after the war is over.

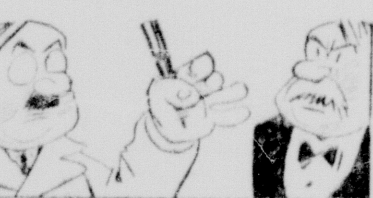

The true test of brotherhood is to watch another man's property burning and not regard it as entertainment.

Juvenile delinquents: Kids full of energy and without a good way to work it off.

Still, many family fights develop only because anything seems better than boredom.

Our present trouble is that too many people think the fight is over because the ring is built.

"I want my kids to have an easier time than I had" really means: "I want my kids to be softer than I am."

Science knows everything except how to make a fountain pen that won't drool when it gets down to the last three drops.

The Army must have taken the pick. Crime hasn't decreased since they were taken out of circulation.

The final proof of chivalry is to be full of bullet holes and tell the cops your wife did it accidentally.

Sex problem: How to protect the purity of women while preserving their equal right to be naughty.

A "sophisticated" magazine is one that gets its laughs by means of sacrilege or naughtiness.

The Tax Mess

WASHINGTON, March 4.—THERE IS at the moment—particularly among the professional liberals—considerable loud complaining about the effect of the rift between Congress and the President over the question of taxes. They insist that it has diminished national unity; they fear it will affect the conduct of the war; they think it should not be talked about any more.

ALARM ALONG these lines seems unfounded. So far as "national unity" in domestic affairs is concerned, there has not been national unity for a long time. And that is a fortunate thing. For example, had national unity been achieved by acquiescence in Mr. Roosevelt's domestic policies, our lack of policies, the effect would have been disastrous. To give but two instances, consider what would have happened had the President's insistence upon a dual-headed war-production board, with "coequal power" or his belief that it was unnecessary to control their wages or food prices to avert inflation, been accepted. Consider the situation if there had been national unity about those things.

ONLY BY continual pounding was Mr. Roosevelt forced to abandon those unground principles and take the direction indicated by experience and common sense. There has not been national unity on domestic issues since we entered the war. The national interests have not suffered because of that fact—they have profited. As to the conduct of the war—no one need be apprehensive of the effect of the tax breach on that. Conduct of the war is in the hands of our competent military and naval authorities. It will continue in their hands regardless of the tax quarrel and regardless of who is elected President in November. And they will get the support to which they are entitled.

IF THE recent explosion can be used to center public attention upon the whole tax business it will be beneficial. For it is really a shocking mess. The men who know most about it are the most appalled. They know it isn't merely that the matter of taxes is incredibly confused and complicated, bound up in immense quantities of red tape, but that there has not been and there is not now—upon the part of either executive or legislative branch, any such thing as a sound and sensible tax policy. Each accuses the other of demagoguery and playing politics with this important problem. Both are guilty. Because this is an election year and because of the labor-saving position each has shied away from the general sales tax without which it is clearly impossible to enlarge the revenues from taxation or to drain off the vast surplus wealth in the hands of the lower-bracket workers, which Secretary Morgenthau himself has said constitutes the real inflation menace.

IN ADDITION, the administration of taxes in the Treasury is so ineffectual and inadequate that there is some concern lest a breakdown occur. The organization is just not equal to the immensely increased burdens it now has to bear. Many thousands of tax cases are awaiting long-delayed settlement. The situation is such that it is almost impossible to get quick action on anything. And it isn't getting better—it is getting worse. If the people generally fully understood the incompetency with which taxes are being dealt with, they might be a motley of such volume as to force a change in the attitude of both President and Congress. Unless there is a change, the prospect is pretty black. It has been pointed out to the President by friendly critics that, boring as the subject is to him, he should give it his full personal attention, put politics aside, and supply real leadership on this immensely vital matter.

HE HAS been strongly urged to reorganize the Treasury, replace the incompetents with competent, take the lead in simplification and make more confidence in Treasury efficiency and in the sincerity of the President the temptation and the excuse for Congress to play politics would be greatly lessened. A President with a sound tax policy and a competent Treasury setup can get co-operation from Congress because that body can be forced to co-operate. The reason Mr. Roosevelt has had no co-operation is because he has no policy himself, and his Secretary of the Treasury submits proposals which contradict his own words.

IT IS possible that the present rift on taxes, plus the absurdly inadequate handling of the war, plus acute public awareness of the grave national peril involved in the blind fiscal drifting in which we are engaged, with no one willing to face realities either as to taxes or debt. But the public will never be sufficiently aroused if we stop talking and writing about it for fear it may hurt the President's prestige abroad or disturb national unity at home. Better to do both of those things than continue to move steadily toward complete financial chaos, which is exactly what we are doing.

Political Washington In Thoughtful Mood
New Story About Franklin, Winston, Joe
Rigid News Censorship Now Being Lifted

By HELEN ESSARY

Central Press Columnist

WASHINGTON, March 4.—This town, which always seems different but is everlastingly the same, is moping a little as the Potomac park cruises announce spring.

Political Washington wears a different mood. Its face is almost too obviously set in a company smile as the next election time approaches. Many office holders are wondering how much longer they will be here.

"Do you like me?" the wife of a WPB chairman asked an old-time Washingtonian. "You do?" Well, better see a lot of me, honey. By this time next year we will be some place else. And there will be a new crop of people for you to have fun with."

And the old-time Washingtonian with a pretty resignation born of long living in the bubbling capital, replied quite calmly: "Yes, I like you will be leaving. But it's been nice knowing you, dear."

New Dealer Complaints
I have a letter from an Abington, Va., correspondent.

"This is probably unwise of me to write you, so please don't use my name. I'm a government employee. New Deal kind, but I simply can't get the idea out of my head that an old-time Washingtonian, who was the president of the United States for 16 whole years, is telling myself that Roosevelt is the best known American name internationally and that he should be kept in office until the boys come back home. But the same thought still sticks. 'Not even Jehovah himself should be given 16 years of power over the great country and its 130,000,000 people. We voters haven't the right to give anybody such influence and opportunity.'"

I guess I belong to that "one six-year term in the White House" way of thinking. Maybe we will come to that next if Mr. Roosevelt is re-elected. The podium is bound to swing sometime. Just imagine, can you, how we would have felt 20 years ago if somebody had told us that 16 years wasn't too long to keep the same man in the White House. Why, we would have shouted "Treasure to the republic and to the principle on which our democracy was founded."

This isn't the first time you've heard such an argument as mine. But I had to write it and tell you I keep worrying about what will happen to us as a nation if having broken the precedent for one president we keep on giving third and fourth and maybe fifth terms to some other president."

To Get News Quicker
Have you heard this one? If you have—do not stop me. Messrs. Roosevelt, Churchill and Stalin were supposedly discussing the organization of the post-war world. President Roosevelt, the story goes, said that in view of his long time as president of the United States, longer than anybody else had ever had, it would be appropriate to give him a fifth term.

The World and the Mud Puddles

FINLAND'S DILEMMA

Finland is in a tough spot, and its leaders know it. Whenever they turn their eyes to the trouble, if they continue to stand by Germany, Russia will intensify her air raids upon Helsinki and other Finnish cities. If they agree to a peace with Russia, there are one hundred twenty thousand German troops within the little country to repeat the terrorization which they employed against the Finns and the Finns against the Finns.

In spite of this dilemma, the Finns appear to be headed in the direction of a separate peace with Russia. This certainly would seem to be the lesser of two evils confronting them. And it also may be a more significant barometer of German strength than at once appears on the surface.

The Finns know, or they ought to know, both the Russians and the Germans. They have been enemies of the former and allies of the latter. They know the Germans are merciless in their dealings with those who forsake them and consequently they know that if they make peace with Russia and try to get out of the war, they can expect the worst the Germans have to offer.

Is it not reasonable to assume that the Finns are convinced that Germany's defeat is a lesser fate than a continuation of the "back Russia is making? Is it not also reasonable to assume that Finland has abandoned all hope of a German victory?

Finland, as a nation, is small and it has a population of less than four millions. But it has courage and it has honor and it is covered by intelligent men. They have given every evidence of a deep hatred of Russia but, even so, they are too smart to continue a hopeless struggle in the face of overwhelming odds at the side of an ally whose cause is lost.

Important events sometimes are foreshadowed by apparently unrelated happenings. In this structure between two great powers on the eastern front, a struggle in which she has been caught in the middle, Finland's steps to abandon Germany and make peace may be the first significant appearance of the handwriting on the wall for Hitler.

LOOKING AT LIFE

By FRANK BRANDEIS

It was like a spring breeze in the middle of winter and I sure wish I could have been in Reilly & Moriarty's tavern in Brooklyn when it happened.

James Murphy, a pipefitter, didn't really mean any harm. It was simply his idea of a good time, and if people didn't appreciate his art, what could a good Irishman do but hum?

It was Murphy's day off, so he went for a morning walk. What was more natural than to drop in to Reilly & Moriarty's for a cool beer and lifting song?

It was 11 a. m. and Moriarty was behind the bar. He let Murphy have his beer and didn't mind his singing.

"Mother, Mother," pipefitter Murphy sang, and when Irish eyes are smiling and "Where the River Shannon Flows" and many others of the old home songs.

At 5 p. m. Reilly relieved Moriarty and Murphy was still appearing and singing.

No Music In Soul
But as Murphy related later, there was no music in Reilly's soul. When he had gone through his repertoire once, Reilly told him to shut up and refused to give him more beer.

An insult to Ireland, to art and to himself, said Murphy to himself. That he couldn't stand. So he picked up a stool and lurled it over the bar. It broke a battery of bottles, grazed Reilly's head and crashed into the mirror.

Reilly came out from behind the bar. Murphy grabbed another stool and smashed the rest of the bottles on the floor all over the floor. Somebody called the police. The Black Maria came rushing and Patrolman John Murphy arrived. Pipefitter James Murphy for almost seven years under the sun save murder and embezzlement.

A sad, sad tale, indeed, and yet a handsome tale. Don't tell me again, my gentle reader, that I am beer-drinking and uncouth and bad for the children.

I know all about brotherly love and turning the other cheek and not frequenting taverns and drinking beer.

But it must have been a grand and glorious night. Bottles flying, crashing glass, the Murphy and the Reilly rolling in the seawind—maybe singing at the same time. "When Irish Eyes Are Smiling." That too, is life!

The Parent Problem

By GARRY C. MYERS, Ph. D.

HOME AND SCHOOL NOT CLOSE ENOUGH
It is a distressing fact that during the past twenty-five years the home and school have known less and less about each other, in spite of the good efforts of the PTA to bridge the gap between them.

It is appalling how few parents of children above the sixth grade know their teachers or much about the kind of work their children do at school. Everywhere we hear teachers of the higher grades and high school bemoan the indifference of parents toward their child's work at school. To encourage home-school co-operation, I have written two bulletins, "Parent Can Help the Child at School" and "Parents and the Child's Home Work." Be had on postage six cents in stamps or a self-addressed envelope sent me at 235 East 45th Street, New York City.

School Party To Blame
Perhaps the school can be blamed in part for this indifference. Certainly the junior and senior high school have not put forth much effort to get acquainted.

Just Folks

QUATRAINS
The Runaway
Tis said that as who runs away May be to fight another day. But he who once has taken flight I'd never back again to fight.

A Book
A book's a very constant friend. On whom man always can depend. Thy only friend which he can own When he is left to sit alone.

Winter
The day is winter where 'tis warm. Must miss the beauty of the storm. And that delight worth suffering for: The joy of seeing spring once more!

Creation
God made the earth; its creatures all. Of bird and beast and insect small. Then fashioned man and set him free To say what he would dare to be.

Hints On Etiquette
"Always behave as if nothing had happened no matter what has happened," said Arnold Bennett. And it is a good rule of etiquette today.

Epworth Church To Burn Note At Sunday Service

Epworth Methodist church will have a note-burning celebration at the Sunday morning service to mark another milestone along the road to complete liquidation of the church indebtedness.

During the past four years over $26,000 has been applied on an obligation which the church has carried with courage and sacrifice for a considerable time and pending plans looking toward yet further progress in this direction.

Announcement will also be made at this service of a substantial gift coming from the Division of Church Extension of the Methodist church.

Sunday too will see the culmination of the week of dedication which has been generally observed throughout Methodism. The services at Epworth will be marked by the spirit of this church-wide program.

Evening service will be a union one, participated in by both Croton and Epworth congregations, with Dr. Homer B. Davis and Rev. W. A. Thornton in charge.

State Convention Awarded To East For Present Year

Word has been received from Walter E. Myers, general secretary of the Pennsylvania State Sabbath School Association, thanking the county association and the Lawrence County Sunday schools for their willingness to entertain the 1944 state convention of October.

Mr. Myers pointed out that the 1942 convention was held in Uniontown which is in the western part of the state and the 1943 convention was held in Huntingdon which is the central part of the state. The board of directors felt that they should go to the eastern part of the state this year, so they have accepted the invitation of Reading. However, Mr. Myers said, they would be glad to entertain an invitation from New Castle for next year's convention, as the hospitality and facilities of New Castle are well known.

Lenten Bible Course To Start March 16

Annual W. C. A. Lenten Bible class will start Thursday, March 16, and conclude on April 6. Time will be 10:30 to 11:30 a. m., on Thursday mornings.

Spokesmen of the religious education committee of the Y. W. expressed themselves as fortunate in having again this year secured Mrs. J. J. McIlwaine as teacher. She will take as her subject, "Women of the Bible."

Opening class on March 16 will deal with "Eve the Mother of Us All." The course will come to the report on April 6 in Holy Week with "Mary the Mother of Jesus."

The lower fringes of northern lights are about 50 miles above the earth.

First Methodist Will Have Revival Meetings In March

Old-fashioned Methodist revival meetings will begin at the First Methodist church Sunday night, March 5, at 7:30 and one will be held each Sunday night during March.

The evangelist will be Rev. Burr R. McKnight, D. D., who at one time was associated with Dr. J. Wilbur Chapman and Billy Sunday.

There will be special music each night by the victory quartet, and congregational singing will be led by Sam Lewis, with Miss Lillian Sarver at the piano and organ.

Montgomery New Lightweight King; Defeats Jack

Philadelphia Captures Rubber Match; Fight Dull

Both Fighters Disappoint
$111,954 Worth Of Customers; Monty To Meet Angott

By LAWTON CARVER
(International News Service Sports Editor)

NEW YORK, March 4.—The new lightweight champion of Madison Square Garden, by virtue of another exchange of the title with Beau Jack is Bob Montgomery, yet you wonder how either can have the effrontery to claim this implied greatness.

It must be the money. Before $111,954 worth of customers last night, Montgomery won the rubber match with the former Georgia shoe shine boy on a split decision that was eminently fair insofar as the fight was concerned. As for the customers, they were robbed.

Fight Disappoints
It was a stinking fight for the New York Commission—and therefore the Madison Square Garden—135-pound championship, a dull uninteresting 15 rounds of clubbing and mauling and indecisiveness.

Out of it came Montgomery to meet Sammy Angott, the National Boxing Association titleholder, later this month for the undisputed world title with the Philadelphia Negro almost certain to blow that one. Anyway he has lost three in a row to Angott up to now.

Beau Jack has never been anywhere near as good as his supporters have claimed. He can't hit, he can't box, he isn't smart and he travels along now on gas supplied by a lack of opposing talent. You wonder how he ever managed to attain New York Commission recognition in the first place.

Montgomery isn't much better. He managed to hit a little sharper and to scuffle a little faster. That's about all. Actually, he can't fight either.

Yet these two in their three fights have drawn $300,000 and that is the tipoff on the eagerness of the customers to witness anything that looks like a brawl.

Action Missing
Those of us who have insisted all along that Beau Jack can't fight were vindicated again. Montgomery can't fight either but he has managed to beat Beau Jack two out of three. His ability can be measured by the fact that he not only lost one to Beau Jack, but has lost three straight to Angott and was knocked out recently by Bummy Davis. What does that make the beaten Beau Jack?

Last night's fight developed little action. In the first few rounds Beau Jack leaped around with considerable agility and confidence. Then they put their heads on each other's chests and for about ten rounds tugged and hauled and mauled at each other in one of the most inept displays of offensive fighting between two little men seen in years. They simply smothered each other. That's the kind of fight it was most of the way—a terrible thing to watch.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS LAND

No outdoors enthusiasts has accomplished more to save game than Frank Tamburini, 910 Oak street.

Coach John Eagleson's Oakmont high school today is two victories away from the 1943-44 Class B WPIAL championship.

The Oakmonters advanced to the semi-final round last night by easily beating West Newton's Hornets, 46-39, at Pitt stadium.

Should the Oaks cop the banner, Coach John Eagleson will be the first coach to capture two successive B titles. Last season Eagleson's crack New Wilmington passers hit the jack pot.

Oakmont next faces Clark high on Wednesday night.

In Friday night's Class A battle, Brentwood eliminated Monessen, 28-25, by spurring in the final period and won the right to play Beaver Falls next Wednesday.

At New Brighton, Evans City, conqueror of Wampum, 44-43, dipped a pair of last minute field goals to erase Monaca from the tourney, 23-20.

Evans City battles Avalon, the tourney favorite on March 6.

What kind of fox runs in certain districts? The foregoing query was addressed to Game Protector Frank Coen who told the writer:

"Red fox are in the majority west of the Mahoning river, or the Mt. Jackson district. Gray fox are in the majority in the northeastern part of the county in the vicinity of the Butler county line and Plain-grove district. He said too, that recently a considerable number of fox were found to be running near the game farm at Harlansburg and today hunters and he will make an effort to rid them of life.

Game Protector Coen also announced that 400 ringneck cocks received recently were liberated and he has 100 more which will be liberated where persons have been feeding hens . . . Rabbits purchased by the Lawrence County Sportsman's association have not yet arrived. Ellwood City Rod & Gun club stocked rabbits recently, and the local Beagle club also stocked some rabbits on their training course.

BOOSTERS WIN, 64-9
Sparked by Clark's 7 points, the East Brook Boosters routed the Pittsburgh Union, 64-9, Friday night on East Brook high floor.

Ken Keltner Signs Indians' Contract

CLEVELAND, March 4.—(INS)—The Cleveland Indians today had a signed contract and verbal assurance from Ken Keltner, their star third baseman, that he intends to play baseball this season despite a 2-B draft deferment.

Keltner told Vice President Roger Peckinpaugh of the Tribe in a telephone conversation that he planned to quit his war job in a Milwaukee foundry and report for spring training.

"If the army wants me," Keltner declared, "that's okay, but I'm a ball player by trade and I'm going to play ball until I'm called."

IC 4 A Track Meet At Garden Tonight

By LEWIS BURTON
INS Sports Writer

NEW YORK, March 4.—The probabilities are that Army will score a clean-cut team victory and that Gil Dodds, the added attraction, will run a mile in his personal par of 4:08 tonight at the intercollegiate A. A. A. track and field championships in Madison Square Gardens. Anything else will be in the nature of a bonus.

If the West Point forces score less frequently than expected, they'll be tied up in a keen battle with Navy. If Parson Dodds doesn't cut loose with another scorching, he'll have trouble from Bill Hulse of the N. Y. A. C. or possibly some other member of the field, which includes Em-sign Ollie Hunter, Columbia midshipman; Les Eisenhart, national 1,000-yard champion, and Frank Martin, Notre Dame mileer.

DePaul Wins 19th, Tops Badgers, 48-35

The victory was the 19th of the season for the Blue Demons against three defeats.

Pittsburgh Boxer Scores 3 Kayoes

PITTSBURGH, March 4.—(INS)—Welterweight Paul Schmaeling was heralded today as another championship prospect after he scored two genuine kayoes and a technical knockout in the Allegheny Mountain Association Junior AAU boxing tournament.

Pottery Certain Of Sharing Title

Shenango Wins Eighth Industrial Loop Victory, Nips UEF, 27-25

Shenango Pottery's robust quintet today is certain of sharing the second half championship of the Industrial league.

The Pottery's facing the stout United Engineering dribblers, copped a 27-25 decision on Hughes last minute field from the side, Friday night on Y.M.C.A. floor, for their eighth consecutive league victory.

With two games left on the card, one with the Aluminum Works and the other with the National Radiators, the Pottery need one more triumph to win a ticket to the playoff series with the Johnson Bronze five.

UEF Ties Score
In last night's tilt, the Shenango marched ahead 16-10 at halftime. The UEF, however, staged a late rally which knotted the count at 24-24. Hughes plipped a field goal from the side in the closing seconds to end the tight affair.

Santaquello and Hughes were the victors' high men with 15 points between them while Miller, Bullano and Borowicz featured for the losers.

Johnson Bronze added its sixth triumph against a pair of losses, defeating the Aluminum Works, 40-21, in the opener. The Bronzes led throughout. Pitzer rimmed 12 points to cop individual scoring honors while Covelli's 11 proved tops for the Alcoa.

In the lone Church loop fracas, Third U.P. posted the last place Central Presbyterians, 26-14. Wright starred for the winners while Phillips featured for the Presbyterians.

Rip Sewell Signs Bucs' '44 Contract

PITTSBURGH, March 4.—(INS)—"Rip" Sewell, "holdout" pitcher, was disclosed to have signed his 1944 contract Friday.

The contract was received at noon Friday by club president, Bill Benswanger, who declined to discuss the salary terms to which the famed "bloopster ball" artist finally succumbed.

Sewell notified Benswanger that "My arm is as good as the day I started pitching."

It was believed the Rip's new contract, estimated to run his salary into five figures, will probably make him the highest paid of the Pirates. He is 35 and the father of two boys.

Hershey Bolstered, Gets Four Players

HERSHEY, Pa., March 4.—(INS)—Coach Cooney Weiland bolstered the lineup of the stumbling Hershey Bears today with four new players and hoped they were enough to stave off the certain finish of the Buffalo Bisons attempting to tumble the Bears from first place in the eastern loop of the American Hockey League.

The Bears acquired Eric Prentice, 18-year-old amateur left winger for the Machivue Gold Miners; Lorin Mercer, defenseman, and Tommy Kirgle, wingman, formerly with the Pittsburgh Hornets, and the Bisons, and Ken Schultz, former center for the Providence Reds.

Favor Sun Again In Widener Today

MIAMI, Fla., March 4.—(INS)—Thirteen thoroughbreds line up today for the running of Florida's richest horse race, the $25,000 added Widener Handicap at Hialeah.

The 13 horses will battle it out over a mile and a quarter distance, with Calumet Farm's Sun Again favored to be first across the finishing line.

Sun Again was a 7 to 5 favorite to win, having beaten most of his rivals in today's handicap when he won the McLenan Handicap at Hialeah recently. Trainer Ben Jones revealed his charge was in good condition.

While Sun Again has his many followers, there were track fans who favored the Coward-Dupuy entry, the gelding Marriage. A 5 to 2 choice, Marriage won the $25,000 New Orleans Handicap at the fair grounds oval February 19.

Both Sun Again and Marriage will carry 129 pounds. Top weight of 124 was given Bolingbroke, a T. P. Martin entry which is coupled with Bankrupt and listed at 4 to 1.

Other entries in the Widener Handicap include Alquest, 6 to 1; Twines, 20 to 1; Shot Put, 10 to 1; Alex Barth, 20 to 1; Eurasian, 12 to 1; Sweep Swinger, 20 to 1; Cooper, 15 to 1; Four Freedoms, 10 to 1; and First Fiddle, 8 to 1.

Carbines, Titan Grid Ace, Killed In Action

NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., March 4.—Philip Carbines, former West-minster student, from McKeesport, was killed in action somewhere in the South Pacific, according to word received here from his mother. Reported missing in action previously, Carbine was officially reported dead last week by his commanding officer. His body has not been recovered.

A senior second-class in the navy, the former Westminster athlete was on a torpedo boat when it was sunk somewhere between New Guinea and the Marshall Islands. He entered the navy in May, then was sent from New York to Australia and had been in combat duty until his death.

A former East McKeesport high school football star, Carbines took over the regular fullback berth on the Titan starting eleven in his freshman year.

He is the fourteenth casualty among Westminster men in service and was the seventh Titan varsity athlete to lose his life in the war.

Lt. Tom Harmon Gets Silver Star

DETROIT, March 4.—(INS)—Lt. Tom Harmon, former Michigan halfback, has been awarded the Silver Star by the war department. It was learned today. The decoration was for the part he played in a battle over Jap-held China where he shot down two Zeros before being shot down himself. Harmon is en route to a new assignment on the west coast.

Harmon was a member of the Michigan football team which won the national championship in 1936.

He is the fourteenth casualty among Westminster men in service and was the seventh Titan varsity athlete to lose his life in the war.

Two-Ton Accepted For Limited Service

NEWARK, N. J., March 4.—(INS)—Two-Ton Tony Galeto was mad today. The army had the nerve to tell him they wanted him for limited service only.

"Dem bums" decided that Tony's over-abundant (216 pounds) figure was not made for very active or combat duty and accepted him only for limited service.

"I'm disappointed," said the fighter. "I wanted to get at dem Axis bums."

Titans Play Away In Finale Tonight

Westminster Face Oklahoma University At Buffalo Double Feature, Locals Underdogs

NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., March 4.—Westminster College's Towering Titans (all seven that are remaining) close a long, erratic but not unsuccessful season tonight when they take on the Oklahoma university Sooners in one of the features of a doubleheader in Buffalo's Memorial auditorium.

To the Titans, who so far this season have won 11 games and lost seven, tonight's contest will be just another ball game that would be nice to have on the winning side of the ledger. All chances for a district title faded last week in little Washington.

Buffalo is not an unfamiliar spot for the Titans who dropped around in December and put a splendid showing before the Buffalo fans when they battled on even terms with the strong Oklahoma Aggies. One of the top teams of the country. Another similar performance would insure the local several return trips next season.

Losing Fred Paine, 6 feet 5 fresh-man guard to the navy V-12 program, Coach Grover Washbaugh intends to switch Dave Davis from forward to the vacant guard position. The starting lineup would then include Ed Little and Chris Wagner at center and Captain Don Bennett and Davis at guards. Reserves included Henry Vitkovich, Ellwood City, and Gene Wilson, New Castle.

Only the seven civilian players will be making the motor trip to Buffalo since navy cadet players were not able to get week-end leaves to accompany the squad.

Sports Ramblings

Sports snapshots collected at random:—

Westminster's prospects of ending the dribbling semester victoriously are not too bright, at least Dick Dunkel, the cage Dunninger, doesn't think so. The picker gives Oklahoma's Sooners a 104 point edge. With Guard Fred Paine in Navy togs at Bethany College and the "road jinx" still chasing the Titans, the blue and white clad cagers appear to be in for another cold reception. . . . Jack Gerson, the jeweler, is enjoying the sport he likes best—fishing—in Florida's balmy weather. . . .

Walter E. Baker, Philadelphia's widely known harness racing writer, says about Joe Rick's pace, My Son, Joe Rick New Castle, Pa., has a great four-year-old pacing prospect in My Son (3:22). He was one of the tops last season and barring accident should join the 200 list during the coming season's campaign. . . . Jack Hulme, former Westminster College trainer, Cascade Park swimming instructor and guard and currently training trainees at Penn State, has concluded a brief visit here. . . .

Travel note:—Francisco Segura, the ambidextrous Ecuadorian, may be unable to fulfill an engagement to play in the Red Cross benefit March 14 at Madison Square Garden. The tennis whiz is in Miami and can't make railroad reservations to return North. He threatened to hitch-hike, if he has to. . . . Both Chicago teams have joined the list of clubs jacking up ticket prices to accommodate new taxes. . . . In tip-top shape following a recent appendectomy, Bucky Walters, the Reds' twirler, started training at Bloomington, Ind., yesterday. He's in 1-A, by the way. . . .

Army doctors reportedly discovered that Spud Chandler has a marked limitation of movement in his pitching arm. Bel that give American League hitters a chuckle or two. . . . Henry Armstrong is piling up another long list of victories at the expense of non-entireties. He's getting a nice piece of change in the build-up leading to Madison Square Garden where he'll get his ears pinned back again. . . . Washington's Senators will have plenty of international flavor this season. The Nats' roster lists 13 Latins, Cubans, Mexicans and Venezuelans. . . .

Only the seven civilian players will be making the motor trip to Buffalo since navy cadet players were not able to get week-end leaves to accompany the squad.

McSpaden's 68 Leads At Gulport
GULFPORT, Miss., March 4.—(INS)—Harold "Jug" McSpaden, winter circuit leader, held a three-stroke lead today as the field teed off in the second round of the $4,500 Gulfport open golf tournament.

McSpaden, winner of three major titles during the winter tour, fired a sizzling 33-35—68 over the hazardous par-71 Great Southern club course yesterday. Upon completion of the opening round, the veteran Philadelphia professional termed it "the best round in my life."

Six players were deduced for the runner-up position with par 71. They include big Ed Dudley, Sammy Byrd, Jimmy Hines, Harry Cooper, Tony Penna and Les Kennedy. Byrd, one of the favorites in the current tourney, won the top prize in the recent $5,000 New Orleans open.

Outfielder Olmo Dodger Holdout
SAN JUAN, P. R., March 4.—(INS)—Brooklyn Dodger Outfielder Luis Rodriguez Olmo today awaited a cable from President Branch Rickey answering his hold-out demand for $7,000 salary for the 1944 baseball season.

The swarthy Puerto Rican informed the Dodger home office by telephone yesterday that he will not sign the $5,000 contract, tentatively offered him and that he is cancelling all plans to leave for New York.

Rev. Thos. J. Jones Recalls Early Days Of Thos. L. Thomas

New Castle Pastor Friend Of Noted Singer Years Ago;
After Concert Reception

Thomas L. Thomas, baritone, and his accompanist Jacob Hanneman, will remember New Castle for more than the plaudits of the crowd that heard them Friday night in the Cathedral. They should remember the reception given them after the concert in the home of Capt. and Mrs. Roger W. Rowland on Highland avenue when about 35 men, most of them singers themselves, gathered to honor the artists.

For Mr. Thomas and Rev. Thomas J. Jones, pastor of the First Congregational church, the reception was an opportunity to renew a friendship that started when Mr. Thomas was a small boy just arrived in Scranton from Wales.

First Appearance
"I was just a kid of ten," said Mr. Thomas, "when my Dad took me over to the home of Rev. and Mrs. Jones. He was my friend from childhood and young manhood I went to him often for counsel and advice. I sang in his church choir, and after when I first went to New York, where Rev. Jones had gone, his home was always open to me. 'You weren't very large that day you came to my home,' said Rev. Jones. 'Your dad had come over to the house to see about getting a job and he insisted that you sing for me. That was the first time you ever sang in America, I believe. Then in 1928 as a boy of fifteen you went with us when we took the Scranton choir to the Cardiff international Eisteddfod. How those Welsh choirs wanted to beat the Yankees, but we brought home the bacon."

Public Tribute
Previously in the evening Mr. Thomas had publicly acknowledged his affection for Rev. Jones when he dedicated his last encore, "Sweet Little Jesus Boy" to "a man who has always been my good friend," to the local pastor.

The reception turned into a small Gynanfu Gannu. The crowd sang for Mr. Thomas and he sang for the crowd and the enjoyment was mutual. For the artist and the minister the reception was a reunion. Sitting in front of a log fire they reminisced of the days when fame was still in the future for the little Welsh lad, of the coal miners who made up the congregation of Rev. Jones' church, of the early struggles of the young singer to get started and of the pride of the Scranton people when he made the grade.

And then as the hour grew late the local men gathered about the piano once again and sang that age old favorite, "Goodnight My Love."

PERSONAL MENTION
Mrs. Nellie Morris of New Castle, has returned home after visiting Mrs. Bertha Hoffman, of New Galilee.

Mrs. Virginia Pagliaro of Division street, departed for Camp Lee, Va., where she will visit her son, Pvt. Tony Pagliaro.

Miss Gladys Hill, Smith street, who underwent an operation in the New Castle hospital, has improved and returned to her home.

THE PARENT PROBLEM

ed with parents and to enlist their interest.

In the young child, however, especially in the primary grades, the parents' interest in the child's work at school is still pretty strong. Yet, at this level, the teacher, thanks to the kind of training she has had generally tries to discourage parents from having anything to do with the child's learning from books. Many a teacher, some whole school systems indeed, forbid children to take their books home, especially if they are free text books. The teacher seems to suppose that the child might learn something wrong at home, or get marked at school on what his parents do for him. This latter problem would not exist if teachers quit grading written work done at home except, perhaps, on its neatness.

Parental Help
But why should not the teacher encourage the parent to help the child practice at home on skills in reading, spelling and number facts? Of course, some parents will nag and worry their children so much over their lessons as to make them hate school work. Let the teacher persuade these parents and show them how to be patient with the child at home. Consider the many other parents who successfully help and encourage the child with his school books at home and build in him good habits of doing home work by the time he is in high school.

One of the strongest urges a child can have to learn to read at school is that he might read to his parents or to a baby brother or sister at home. If I were teaching in the primary grades again, I should consider this urge in the child my biggest force. I doubt if many experts in reading could do so much to help the poor reader, say in the third grade, as to induce him to read to a much younger child at home. Please, Teacher, let your children take their books home. See the companionship in the family this might afford. Consider, too, that some homes may hardly have another book.

Solving Parent Problems
Q. How many hours of sleep should a child of six years old have?
A. At least 11 hours of actual sleep. My special bulletin, "De-sired Hours of Sleep for Child at Various Ages," may be had for postage in the usual way.

Q. Don't you think children of the elementary grades should be home on nights before school?
A. Yes, and high school youths would do well to limit their evenings out to the week end.

Q. What is a good way to train a tot, four, to avoid matches?
A. Keep matches out of his reach when you are not with him. At other times spank him soundly when he touches matches in your presence. Allow no exceptions to occur. Don't talk; act.

WASHINGTON REPORT

appropriate to choose him as president of the new group.

Prime Minister Churchill said that since he had so long an experience as chancellor of the exchequer in England he should be put in as treasurer. Then they turned to Premier Stalin, politely, and asked: "Is this agreeable to you?"

"I appreciate your interest," said the Russian premier, "and I thank you. But I shall not be able to use either of you in my organization."

I hear from sources close to the White House (good line when you want to get an idea over impressively) that from now on there will be little censorship of war news. Looking back on the Pearl Harbor disaster, perhaps censorship was needed there. But those fearful days are gone forever.

From now on the story of both victory and defeat will be relayed promptly to the American people. There will be certain plans and events that cannot be told. Nationally. But the hide-bound, short-sighted secrecy era is finished.

It is possible that the United States wants to become as octopus as the British empire used to be. Anyhow, I was a little startled the other day to hear the United States Senate, while debating on UNRRA show concern about which European country shall be permitted to exercise most control in Europe.

Minding our own affairs and controlling our own country should be our first concern—if we are as noble as we pretend to be.

Hospital New X-Ray Department To Open

New Castle Hospital Deep Therapy Machine For Cancer Treatment Among New Equipment

New Castle hospital announces the opening of their new X-ray department on Sunday afternoon, March 5 following a renovation period of six months.

The public is invited to attend the opening Sunday afternoon from 2 to 4 o'clock the X-ray department on the second floor of the hospital, where hospital authorities will greet the public and explain the new equipment.

The newly installed deep therapy machine has a capacity of 220,000 volts, to be used mainly for the treatment of cancer. In the past many hospital patients were unable to receive this medical treatment, but with the installation of this department, all patients confined to the hospital, requiring this service, will have access to this medical therapy in the future. The machine is equipped with accurate devices such as a timer, ionometer and stabilizer for X-ray filament current, etc.

The radiographic department has been equipped with a 200-milliamper shock-proof radiographic-fluoroscopic, therapy and diagnostic X-ray unit. Added features are the horizontal cassette changer, principally used to obtain X-ray chest films at a distance of six feet, and the new vertical full automatic control. Darkness which is necessary during fluoroscopy can be easily obtained with the new Bar-ray blackout windows. The new hand crank table of walnut plastic surface, reinforced to eliminate sagging, is easily operated regardless of the patient's weight, and a weighted scale indicator shows the degree of the table tilt while taking the pictures.

The control room located between the radiographic and deep therapy department contains the two vertical controls, and is also equipped with a film storage compartment, where films can be filed for future reference.

The lengthy period in renovating the department can be understood considering the many minute details and adjustments so necessary in the department, and the excessive amount of repairs made. New floors were laid, and the walls and floors of the different departments were lined with lead, and a double door with lead sheeting partitions the department. The entire mechanism is of chromium and black and is shock-proof, which eliminates all hazards.

Along with the department, the basal-metabolism and electro-cardiograph room has been remodeled, as also the developing room is now equipped with a new dryer and work bench.

The department has also the facility of a portable X-ray machine of 30 milliamperes and 100 kilovolts, which can be taken to the rooms of the patients, if illnesses or injuries prevent them from being moved to the X-ray department. The portable is equipped with a hand fluoroscope for use in connection with the reduction of fracture in operating room.

Fluorescent lighting equipment, newly laid asphalt tile floors of buff and black, and apple-green walls with matching new drapes complete the new department.

Realizing the urgent need for this new equipment for hospital patients, an appeal was made to Washington, D. C. for priority to purchase the new equipment.

'SWING LOBBY' CROWD OVER 300

Ne-Ca-Hi, Shenango, Union High Students Flock To Opening At Y.W.C.A.

Over 300 boys and girls from Ne-Ca-Hi, Shenango high school and Union high crowded the second floor of the Y. W. C. A. on Thursday evening for the opening night of "Swing Lobby."

Hours were from 8:30 to 11:30 and during that time a gay and enthusiastic crowd of high school seniors, juniors and sophomores enjoyed dancing, table games and refreshments provided at a snack bar. The number of registrations exceeded expectations of the committee in charge.

During the evening Mayor Haven and other community leaders dropped in to see how the experiment of youth recreation was progressing. Members of the planning committee in charge today expressed themselves as hopeful that the success of "Swing Lobby's" opening night will give encouragement for other youth recreation centers in other parts of the city.

"Swing Lobby" will be continued every Friday evening from 8 to 11:30 on the second floor of the Y. W. C. A.

For the past three weeks a committee of Y. W. C. A. business girls and high school students have met three or four times a week to lay careful plans for an informal youth club such as many cities have provided this winter. Last night's opening was the culmination of these plans.

The student committee had entire charge of decorations, music, snack bar refreshments, purchasing and setting up pingpong tables and cleanup. Business girls of the Y. W. C. A. as sponsors of "Swing Lobby" backed the students with a little money and registered over 300 young guests who attended the gala opening and made the old Y. W. C. A. building resound with their enthusiasm.

ASK HIM WHAT LIFE GIVING BLOOD PLASMA MEANS WHEN HIS OWN LIFE'S BLOOD HAS POURED OUT ON SOME SOUTH PACIFIC BEACHHEAD. ASK HIM IF HE THINKS IT WORTH WHILE FOR YOU TO TAKE A FEW MINUTES OF YOUR TIME AND DONATE A PINT OF BLOOD TO THE RED CROSS?

Blood plasma has saved lives in this war, the lives of American boys who otherwise might be buried in some foreign soil. That pint of blood you are asked to give may mean the difference between life and death for some one close to you.

It is such a little thing for you to do and such a tremendous help in the life saving work of the Red Cross. If you haven't signed up as a blood donor for next week, do it now. Call the Red Cross, tell them this is your war too, tell them you'll take a few minutes out next week to have a personal part in the war.

None of us should need urging in a campaign like this. None of us are too busy or too important to help save some American lad's life.

Drastic Increases In Some Types Of Postage Shown By New Schedule Here Today

EFFECTIVE LAST WEEK OF MARCH

New postage rates, which are increased under the provisions of the recent revenue bill enacted by Congress, have been received by Postmaster, William R. Hanna. These rates become effective on March 26 and some drastic increases are noted in some instances, while in others the rates are only moderately increased.

There is no increase in the rate for postal cards or mail to points outside the city, but mail for local delivery is increased from two to three cents. The local post office force will have to place a one-cent stamp on all stamped envelopes of the two-cent denomination, as these will not be turned back to the Post Office Department, but the supply will be used up through this method.

Air mail rates to all points in the United States and Alaska are increased from six to eight cents per ounce. On air mail to soldiers in the armed forces overseas, or sent by them to the United States, the rate remains the same, at six cents per one-half ounce.

Fourth-class or parcel post rates are increased approximately three per cent, which will mean virtually only a cent per package raise except for larger packages to zones far distant, where the increase will be perhaps a little more.

Sharp increases are noted in money order fees, registered mail and C. O. D. mail rates. Money order fees jump from a minimum of six cents to 10 cents on orders up to $2.50 in value, and corresponding increases for amounts over that figure. The minimum rate for registered mail increases from 15 cents to 20 cents. On values between $75 and $100 the rate will be 40 cents, against the old rate of 25 cents. C. O. D. rates are virtually 100 per cent more than the old rates.

Old air mail stamped envelopes will not be redeemed, but can be used by placing the additional amount of postage needed on them. It is likely that a great many letters will be returned to the sender for a time, especially on letters for delivery within the city, as folks will forget about the increase and put the same amount in stamps on them until they get used to the change, the postmaster stated, but in time they will get used to the new rates.

It will likely cause a little delay in doing business at the post office until the clerks familiarize themselves with the changes, but little confusion is expected to result, Hanna stated.

British Diplomat Speaks March 13

Capt. H. Cotton-Minchin, Secretary Of British Embassy, To Address Executives

Whether common interests in World War Two will be preserved after the war; whether Anglo-American unity will offend Russia, China, and the smaller democracies; whether American support of a united world means underwriting British rule over India, are among the questions which will be discussed here by Capt. H. Cotton-Minchin, secretary of the British Embassy, when he speaks to members of the Executive Club here on Monday evening, March 13.

Capt. Cotton-Minchin, a veteran of World War One, established British censorship in Gibraltar at the beginning of the current war, and later served in Bermuda, before being transferred to Washington in his present capacity.

He has made many trips to the Far East, Middle East, Africa and Europe and knows European politics, which he will discuss here.

Home Economics Council Lists Foods For Donors

For women, members of whose families are fulfilling their patriotic duty of giving blood at the Blood Donor center in the First Presbyterian church this week and next, the Lawrence Council Council of Home Economics Women offers by low suggestions of foods that contain blood-building essentials.

To give a pint of blood that may help save the life of a soldier, sailor or marine is a privilege that every American is anxious to avail himself of. It follows that with wartime food shortages and long working hours, it is also a patriotic duty to adjust the daily diet so that the pint of blood may be replaced as quickly as possible is the advice of the council.

This may be accomplished by including in daily meals foods that contain blood-building essentials, says Mrs. Thomas Sadler, president of the Home Economics Council.

Surveys show that large percentages of Pennsylvanians eat diets deficient in iron and other essentials.

Blood donors should for the next two months, according to a list of foods submitted by Mrs. Sadler, include in their diet once a week:

Liver two or three times a week.

Pork liver contains twice as much iron as beef or calves' liver.

Whole wheat cereals and breads, oysters, dried navy or lima beans, spinach, meats, apricots, dark sorghum molasses (1 tablespoon three times daily in 1/2 cup of water, eggs.

Nurses Aides Plan Ceremony March 23 At Washington High

Aides From New Castle And Jameson Hospitals To Receive Caps

Committees, working diligently for the past three weeks in rounding out a special graduation ceremony for two classes of Red Cross Nurses Aides, have about completed details for this occasion. It will take place Thursday night, March 23 at 8, in the auditorium of George Washington Junior High school.

A class of ten Nurses Aides from Jameson Memorial hospital instructed by Mrs. Lucille King and a class of twenty from New Castle hospital trained by Mrs. Alice Brunswick will be capped.

Tribute will be paid all Red Cross Nurses Aides together with those having received their diplomas at earlier dates, joining in the procession and reception. Ellwood City Nurses Aides will also share this part of the program.

In addition to the capping, service bars for those already having contributed 150, 500 and 1000 hours to working in both the New Castle and Jameson Memorial hospitals.

Kiwanis club of New Castle is sponsoring this mass meeting and has an interesting program outlined. It is the first time the capping has been held in a large auditorium, previous graduations taking place in the Nurses Homes of the local hospitals. With the growing interest shown toward the girls in blue better known as Red Cross Nurses Aides, it is essential to seek larger quarters to accommodate the overflow of guests.

On the program, duties of a Nurses Aide and various phases of their training will be pointed out to the audience. The importance of this service will also be emphasized. Miss Elizabeth Breslin, executive secretary of the New Castle Chapter of the American Red Cross, Mrs. John Elliott, chairman of volunteer service, and Mrs. Harry Barkley, chairman of Nurses Aides, and committees, have shown a constant interest in their aides.

A complete full dress rehearsal of Nurses Aides, committees and others taking part in the graduation ceremony on March 23, will be held on Tuesday, March 21, in George Washington Junior High school at 7.
